Scottish Stroke Care Audit

This leaflet explains what you need to know about the Scottish Stroke Care Audit (SSCA) and why it is important for the future care of patients.

Who are we?

The Scottish Stroke Care Audit is part of the Scottish National Audit Program within Public Health Scotland (PHS). PHS is a national special health board of NHS Scotland, jointly sponsored by the Scottish Government and COSLA, which launched on 1 April 2020. More information about PHS is available at: <https://www.publichealthscotland.scot/our-areas-of-work/sharing-our-data-and-intelligence/>

About the SSCA

Each hospital / clinic collects information about the care of patients who have had a stroke or TIA and compares it with nationally agreed standards.

What is the aim of the Audit?

To record all patients who have had a stroke or TIA in Scotland and to use this information to change clinical practice to improve the care these patients receive.

What are the benefits?

The SSCA uses this information to learn more about your condition, for example:

- how many people have a stroke in Scotland each year
- what type of stroke they have
- whether stroke is becoming more common
- if hospitals / clinics have the right staff and resources in the right place to treat stroke patients effectively

Including your information helps us to identify areas for improvement in the care of patients with stroke in Scotland.

How are the data collected?

Your hospital sends the information electronically to the Scottish National Audit Programme team.

What personal information will the audit hold about you?

Only relevant information about you and your care is collected. We do collect the following personal information about you:

- name
- postcode
- date of birth
- sex
- Community Health Index (CHI) Number
- your NHS Board as well as the information about your care

How do we use your data?

The data we collect in the SSCA database is held electronically and securely within NHS Scotland. The SSCA team managing the audit collate and check the information. Personal information is shared with clinical and hospital management who are directly involved in your care. Other non-identifiable information is shared with the Scottish Government and researchers. This information may be used for local or national projects or as part of research, but individual personal information will never be published. The Register Steering Group controls who has access to the data collected.

Will anyone contact me from the audit?

You may also be invited to take part in other associated projects, related to SSCA in the future, but you will be informed about them and be able to decide whether you want to participate or not. If you decide not to take part this will not affect the standard of care you receive. There are occasions when researchers need to access information about individual patients. There are strict processes they have to go through to do this and they cannot contact you without the approval of your doctor.

Do I need to do anything?

You do not need to do anything – there are no forms to fill in and nothing to sign. Your hospital will record all of the information relevant to your care on their information systems/ records. Relevant information will be manually entered to SSCA database by appropriately trained auditors. Secure automatic processes will then transfer only the parts of these data that are relevant to the SSCA database.

Is information about me safe?

Yes. We have to comply with the law to use your personal information. The reports that the audit publish do not identify any individuals. PHS staff are bound by data protection legislation and confidentiality rules. All information is stored in ways that comply with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2018 on computers that can only be accessed with secure passwords. Only NHS staff with specific security access can see any personal details.

Your rights Data Protection law gives you rights over how we use your personal details. These and other more detailed information can be found on the PHS website:
